Converting OST to vCard conversion is not a simple process,.Q: how to remove local path in a cronjob I use the following cronjob for backup my site. 00 09 * * * /usr/bin/wget -O /home/backup/backup.zip `url=(and it works fine. Now I want to get a list of recent files uploads from user(eg: /usr/bin/wget -O /home/backup/backup.zip `url=(/usr/bin/wget -O /home/backup/backup.zip `url=(I want to make it a cronjob, but I don't know how to remove the url path. Do you know a way? A: Don't store the URLs in your cron script. They have a tendency to pick up weird and potentially unwanted extra information like browser, referrer or cookies. URLs have to be retrieved from some sort of location and it is much easier to put them in a database and query them from there. I would write the script like this:
#!/bin/bash # If the script is called without any

arguments, assume it is run by cron # to check whether you have any URLs to download. if ["$#" -eq 0]; then # Put the URLs in a file cat /path/to/your/urls/file | \ while read -r url; do wget -O /home/backup/backup.zip 04aeff104c
